Our History

Henry's Diner has been a landmark in the heart of downtown Burlington for more than ninety years.

Henry Couture opened Henry's Diner in June 1925. The railroad dining car was brought from Mahoney's in Bayonne, NJ. The original Henry's had a curved roof which was a variation from the usual flat-top cars. There was a long counter with the cooking area in front. In those days the churches and "polite" society looked down their noses at diners. Even the City Fathers gave Henry a hard time before granting him a license. Ladies never stepped inside a diner. Henry changed the image of the dining car. He put window boxes out front and attached gaily striped awnings. Special feminine frills were added to the menu such as waffles, frankfurts and hamburger on bread that was toasted daintily on one side. Henry won the hearts of the ladies and became the fashionable place to dine for scions on the hill and for ordinary working folk.

In June of 1935 under the management of Frank Goldstein the west wall was opened to provide room for more booths. In 1958 the kitchen area was expanded and more dining space was added.

A severe fire on Labor Day, September 1, 1969 forced co-owners Frank and Roberta Goldstein to close Henry's temporarily. In spite of the extensive damage they decided to rebuild. Every effort was made to preserve the imitable charm of Henry's. Improvements such as acoustical ceilings, modern equipment, an attractive décor and soft background music to enhance the warm intimacy that has always been associated with this home away from home. Henry's re-opened February 21, 1970. Customers old and new brought their warm wishes for the success of this unique landmark.

In March 1982 Frank Goldstein passed away, their oldest son Harold Michael (called Michael) became general manager. For the next decade or so several members of the Goldstein family operated Henry's.

Since Henry's opened there has only been 4 owners. Bill and Naomi Maglaris and their family came to Henry's in August of 2004. Bill grew up in the restaurant business. His family owned the Acadia Restaurant on Main Street in Burlington, now known as Reuben James. Bill worked in the kitchen for Holiday Inn during high school and worked his way up the ladder for many years.

Bill came with the knowledge and desire to return Henry's back to the well known diner it used to be; delicious home cooked food at an affordable price in a comfortable atmosphere.

We look forward to the future knowing that our city is constantly changing. We give thanks to all of our customers and welcome people from diverse countries and cultures. May our customers come in with an appetite and depart happy and satisfied. Welcome to our home. Please come in to relax and enjoy!
